

Tips for Thought Leadership Blog Posts

By following these tips, you can create thought-provoking blog posts that showcase your expertise, engage your audience, and establish your DFA as a thought leader in your field.

Choose your topic carefully Select a topic that you know well, and that will be interesting to your target audience.	Define your audience Understand your target audience and write with their needs and interests in mind.	Create an outline Organise your thoughts and create an outline before writing. This will help you maintain focus and ensure a well-structured post.	Write compelling headlines Craft catchy and attention-grabbing headlines to entice readers to click and read your blog post.

Introduction Begin with a compelling opening paragraph that introduces your topic and grabs readers' attention.	Section the content Organise your content into clear sections or paragraphs that flow logically. Use headings and subheadings to improve readability and to guide readers through your post.	Interesting statistics and figures Use relevant data and statistics to strengthen your arguments and make your post more engaging.	Add visual elements Include images, infographics, or videos to enhance your content and make it visually appealing and engaging.

Write in a conversational tone Use a friendly and approachable writing style that is easy to understand. Keep sentences short and avoid using technical jargon.	Links to other sources Include links to credible sources that support your points and provide additional information for interested readers.	Opinion or perspective Share your insights and expertise by offering your opinion or perspective on the topic. Explain the implications for readers and the industry. This works particularly in the concluding part of the blog.	Call to action Include a clear call to action that encourages readers to engage further with your content or take specific actions related to the topic (e.g., become a member or sign-up to attend an event).

Length Aim for an article that provides depth without overwhelming readers. A minimum of 600 words is a good guideline but prioritise quality over quantity.	Proofread and fact-check Have someone else review your post for flow and accuracy and utilise free tools such as spell checkers and Grammarly: https://www.grammarly.com/.	Promote your content Share your blog post on social media, relevant forums, and other platforms to increase its reach and visibility.	Engage with your readers Respond to comments and feedback on your blog post to foster interaction and build a community around your content.

Also, consider AI tools such as ChatGPT that can generate content for blog posts in seconds! You will need to customise, fact check, and tailor the post to find your brand voice and style, but it can save you significant amounts of time.
